General Custer's Queer Reception at His Birthplace

NEW RUMLEY Harrison county (Ohio) September 1 th—An incident occurred at the railroad station near this village to day as President Johnson and party passed by on their return to Washington, which may be interesting to our readers. This is the birth place of General Custer the bread and butter hero, and was his home until he entered West Point. As this was his first visit to his old home since the war, the General supposed that he was to eclipse all others of the party at this station and that he himself would be the hero of the occasion. In order that there should be no misunderstanding about his presence with the party he took the trouble to telegraph the fact from Newark. When the train reached here it found about one hundred persons collected by their curiosity to see a live President. The President was introduced to the people by Colonel George W McCook who gave signs that he desired them to cheer him. But he evidently mistook his crowd, as not a voice was raised to welcome the renegade to the soil of old Harrison.

Some one called for a speech but just at this moment the President's eye caught a placard with "New Orleans" posted on the station house, and immediately retired within the cars. Three rousing cheers were then given for Congress, and three for Thad Stevens. During all this time General Custer remained in the car, waiting to be called out but even those who had known him from childhood some of them his own relatives, were not willing to give him a welcome to the place of his nativity. They admired his military career, but felt that by his subsequent course, he had forfeited all right to recognition. Just as the train was ready to move off he was informed that a lady, a cousin, desired to see him, and he appeared upon the platform. She took him by the hand and said she was glad to welcome him as a cousin, but was grieved to find him in such company. The General then turned to some of the party who were standing on the platform and remarked that he was born here, but was ashamed to own it. A cry went up from the crowd that they were ashamed of him, and if he should come here again they would insure him a warm reception. The train moved off, and thus ended the Presidential reception at this place.

THE MAINE ELECTION.—The New York Nation of September 20th, alluding to the late election in Maine, remarks:

We desire to use moderate language, but no ordinary phrases will do justice to that election. It was an exciting one in which the State was thoroughly canvassed, and in which official influence and money were freely used. All the chances of gain seemed to be on the side of the Johnsonian party. The pressure which they brought to bear may be judged from the single fact that in Kittery, where is a large navy yard, the vote in 1864 was 465 Republican to 191 Democratic, whereas now it is 345 Republican to 304 Democratic. But such influences are of less account than many suppose. Every other town in the same county shows large Republican gains. And it should be observed that the victory is not owing to any diminution of the general vote or the absence of popular interest. The conglomerate party fully expected to gain one Congressman and hoped for two. They struggled hard for this purpose, but signally failed. The Republican vote is larger than ever before, except possibly at the gubernatorial elections of 1856 and 1860, when the party polled almost exactly 70,000 votes. It polls now at least 69 000, and probably over 70 000. Lincoln, in 1864, received only 62,000. This large vote, in a State almost stationary in population, is of itself a triumph. But the majority is far larger than was ever given by the State before to any party or candidate whatever. The largest majority ever given to any Governor at a previous election was less than 13,000, and the Republican majority in 1862 was less than 6,000. Now it is close upon 30 000.

HUMORS OF THE CANVASS.—James M. Ashley, of the Toledo (Ohio) district, in a speech the other day at Ottawa, told an anecdote in illustration of President Johnson's character that is very pertinent to the kind of reputation that he is now making for himself. Soon after the President began his wholesale pardoning of rebels, and taking them into his political arms, a Mrs Brown, wife of the Postmaster General under President Polk appeared in Washington to obtain a pardon for her husband. Stopping with a friend in the Capital, she expressed to her much timidity and trepidation at the thought of approaching his Excellency, and it was only after many promptings from others who had succeeded with the President on like missions, that she entered the White House. On returning, Mrs Brown's friend asked her how she was received? "Oh, very well," was the answer; "he hardly looked at my papers, he inquired after the health of Brown, granted his pardon and asked me to make the White House my home while I stayed in the city." "Well, are you going to do so?" inquired her friend. "La! no," was the indignant reply, with a elevation of her genteel nose, "you know we never used to associate with the Johnsons in Tennessee."

BEN BUTLER MAKES THE BEST SPEECH OF THE TIMES.—General Ben Butler was in attendance upon the Southern Loyalists Convention at Philadelphia, and received a serenade while stopping at the Continental Hotel in that city. Appearing upon the balcony, the General spoke as follows:

I accept the compliment as a tribute to the principles to which I have devoted myself. I believe that you give it because you think I represent, as far as I may, those principles of that party which your enemies call radical. [Cheers, and cries of "That's it!" "Fight it out on that line!"] Now as I was never a village Alderman [laughter] as I never represented my State in Congress [renewed laughter], as I never sat in the Senate of the United States [laughter] as I never was Military Governor of any State [roars of laughter, and cries of "That's good!"], as the cup of my earliest ambition is not full [cheers and laughter] as I am not "a humble individual" [laughter], and as I have a very bad cold, I can say no more.

The arrival of General McCook, the new Minister Resident at the Hawaiian Court, relieves the Hon. James McBride, who has represented the American Government during the last three years. The retiring Minister has conducted the affairs of his official station in a highly creditable manner. He has often evinced a most hearty attachment to the Government which he represented, and shown that he was a man of true Union sentiments, uncontaminated with the least "copperish mixture." He has been often spoken of as a man of the Lincoln type of character. He is a native of Tennessee, but for many years has been a citizen of Oregon. He returns to his home gladdened by a wide circle of family friends who will give him a cordial welcome while his friends and countrymen residing on the islands will give him a most cordial "aloha" at his departure.—The (Honolulu) Friend.

UNION MEETING IN RALEIGH.—A dispatch dated Raleigh N C, September 20 says:

"At a State meeting of unconditional Union men of North Carolina, held in Raleigh to day, Hon W Fred Dockery was nominated for Governor. The Constitutional amendment was unanimously endorsed. It is the only issue between the two parties of the State. Ex Governor Holden who was chosen President, delivered an able address heartily endorsing the candidate and the platform. Letters from distinguished Union men were received from distant parts of the State, pledging their support."

Ashland District Kentucky the home of Henry Clay gave at the late election 6,012 Democratic majority.—Co Ex.

The reason for that majority is that Henry Clay has been dead for fifteen years.

SURRATT.—John H Surratt, the principal confederate of J Wilkes Booth in the assassination plot is now living in a friendly European country and Secretary Seward knows of his whereabouts—so said Boutwell of Massachusetts in a recent speech at Marlboro (Mass.)

ANOTHER RECEPTION.—The Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist promises President Johnson a warm welcome to its town if he will come there arm in arm with "President" Davis.

That will be the case soon, probably.

Rules and Regulations for the Payment of Bounties

WASHINGTON Sept 21.—The following are the rules and regulations adopted by General Canby's Board for the payment of the bounties authorized by the Act of July 28 1866. It is not probable that the payment of the bounties will commence for some time yet owing to the immense labor involved in the classification and assortment of the claims. First—All applications shall be filed within the period of six months from the first day of October 1866, and before any payments are made shall be classified by regiments battalions, or other separate organizations, and no application filed after that period shall be settled until the former shall have been paid.

Second—No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the Act, and the further affidavit that he has not received nor is he entitled to receive from the United States, under any laws or regulations prior to the receipt of July 28, 1866 more than $100 bounty for any and all military services rendered by him during the late rebellion over and above the amount therein claimed.

Third—All applications for additional bounty authorized by this Act, from surviving soldiers, shall be in the form hereinafter presented and the evidence of identity shall be the same as now required, and applications from heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form required by the Treasury Department.

Fourth—As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment or other independent organization shall have been properly acted upon the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment.

Fifth—A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's office, and also in the office of the Second Auditor, of all claims presented under the law, in which the claimants will be classified by regiments and if the claims be allowed, the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted, and if registered, the cause of each registration will be distinctly stated.

Seventh—Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, or so called out for special purposes as State militia, home guards, etc, and not mentioned in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of this Act.

Eighth—Soldiers enlisted for three years or during the war, who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war, shall be considered as having served out the period of their enlistment, and are entitled to bounty under this Act.

Ninth—The minority of heirs claimants for bounty under this act must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage; parents shall receive jointly the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family, in which case it will be paid to the mother, non residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claims of heirs who would otherwise legally inherit. The provisions of the Act exclude from its benefits the following classes: Those who after serving the full period of their enlistment were dishonorably discharged at its expiration; those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment, those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service, but not occasioned by wounds received in the line of duty, who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of the discharge, those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment; the heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty, the surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who, under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than $100 from the United States, the surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers, where such soldiers have bartered, sold, assigned, loaned, transferred or given away their final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress. The Act of 28th of July, 1866, creates no rights of inheritance beyond those vested by the law under which these heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty, and debars certain classes—brothers and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty—from any claim for the additional bounty provided by the Act. Especially referred to the Attorney General for his opinion on the point whether the rules and regulations are in conformity with law.

EDWIN M STANTON,
Secretary of War.

I have examined the annexed regulations, and am of opinion that they are in conformity with law.

HENRY STANSBERRY,
September 15, 1866 Attorney General.

The applicant will be required to swear that he is entitled to the additional bounty due him at the time, under the Act of July, 1866, and that he has not bartered, sold, assigned, transferred, loaned, exchanged or given away his final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress, that he has not already received or is entitled to receive any other bounty than one hundred dollars and that this statement of service is a correct and true statement of any and all service rendered by him during the rebellion, and that he has never served otherwise than as stated.

The Paymaster General has addressed the following circular to the Adjutant Generals of the several States: "Please give general publicity throughout the State that no application be entertained, if not in strict and literal conformity with the above regulations. Applications of heirs, etc, for claims of deceased soldiers, and applications for bounties of every class accruing to colored soldiers living or dead, must be made direct to the Second Auditor of the Treasury, and not to the Paymaster General's office.

B. M. BRUCE,
August 21st Paymaster General.

THE FATE OF JEFFERSON DAVIS.—On the 18th September, Bishop Greene of Mississippi visited Jefferson Davis, accompanied by John W. Kelly, an ex Roman Catholic divine. In their interview, Bishop Greene remarked, that it was the intention to try and persuade President Johnson to liberate him. Mr Davis replied that their efforts would be futile. His counsel has had interviews with the President but the only answer to his petition was that he would have to be tried both before a military and civil tribunal. He (Davis) for the present had given up all hopes of being released from confinement.

LAST WORDS.—The St. Louis Democrat of September 24th says:

As the door of the White House closed on Saturday night the last thing heard was something like this: "Circle, round Alderman, 'titution, people, thirty six 'umble individual, eleven States, tution, 'tution hands of people, every office, gift of people, why don't yer hang Thad Stevens? glorious Constitution, speech 'splay, (hic)."

McDOUGALL.—Senator McDougall was one of the speakers at the Democratic meeting in Union square, New York, the other night. He is said to have remarked to his enthusiastic hearers that he came to them in behalf of ninety seven States of the Union, and he would be so kind to leave in their charge his blockade runner umbrella, with one hundred and three stars and several Constitutions on it, and take a check for it.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 24, 1866.

The Late Session.

During the late session of the Legislature it was complained in the House that this journal had presumed to censure certain members for some of their official acts. It was eagerly argued that the public press ought to withhold all comments of this kind until the close of the session; when each member could be judged for the whole of his acts, instead of for a part of them. This new device for seeking immunity from criticism had little weight with this paper, and we continued to make such comments as we chose. And as it is evident that the members of that honorable body expect something to be said concerning the session, now that it has ended, we think that it would be quite improper to allow them to be disappointed. It is not easy to understand however, what advantage certain members could have expected to obtain by a suspension of the public judgment in regard to them until the session should close. For if there was reason to blame them for the separate and isolated acts of their legislative career, there is far greater reason to censure them for their conduct during the entire session. For a single instance of wrong doing there may be an excuse; but for a deliberate career of faithlessness and duplicity there can be no justification.

The course of the Democrats throughout the session was to squander and fritter away the time so as to prevent all legislation. Their dilatory tactics were brought into use on every occasion from the first day to the last. The organization of the House was postponed by their non-appearance on the first day of the session. Their object in this was to delay the election of Senator for one week, that they might have opportunity in the interval to play upon some of the doubtful Union members, and mature their own plans. Unfortunately there were three or four members in the House who had been elected as Unionists, who favored their schemes directly or indirectly, from first to last. By their aid the Democrats did pretty much as they pleased in the House. Though the Unionists had a nominal majority of five at the commencement of the session, their strength was entirely neutralized by the practices of the renegades. Two or three men of very small talents and less integrity conceived the ambitious idea of governing the whole Legislature. Clothed with a little brief authority, it seemed to wholly gratify their pitiful vanity to be able to manage everything themselves. There was only one way by which they could hope to maintain their hold and preserve their power. This was to oust the sitting members from Grant county and instate the contestants. These changes were accordingly made with the utmost precipitancy, and to this time there is no proof that the Union members were not legally entitled to their seats. We have it on incontestible evidence that one of the members from this county told a Union member from Grant that he was pre-determined to vote for his ejectment, because it was necessary to do so that he might be able to carry out his own purposes. When asked what his purposes were, the reply was: "To defeat your candidate for the Senate." So the Grant county contest was decided, not on evidence, but to gratify a resentment which had possessed the minds of two or three members against a man who was a candidate for a place in the Senate of the United States. Before this contest was decided, however, these trickish persons took care to have the Union members from Yamhill confirmed in their seats, as the loss of them would have deprived our little great ones of the balance of power which they were so anxious to hold in their own hands. There was also a predetermination in the minds of these faithless members not to give the Union contestants from Polk county their seats, and these cases which did not come to trial till near the close of the session, were virtually decided soon after it began. Thus these men by playing fast and loose, managed to hold everything under their control during the whole session. As Louis XIV said, "I am the State," so they said to themselves, "we are the Legislature of Oregon." And they might have added with the closest adherence to truth, "we are the shabbiest Legislature that ever assembled."

Perhaps it should not have been expected that the Democrats, strong partisans as they are, would have acted otherwise than they did. They could hope to do nothing themselves, and could therefore only endeavor to hinder and delay the business of the session. They did nothing but what might have been looked for in them. But that any members elected by the Union party should have seconded their schemes, and particularly that these members, or a part of them, should have been sent from this county, is sufficiently humiliating. We cannot refrain from saying here, that these members were not the choice of the Union party of this county. They were voted for of necessity, because they had been nominated. If they suppose that they owe their position to their popularity, they are egregiously mistaken. Few wanted them last spring, and still fewer have any use for them now. Unless we have a special session of the Legislature before 1868, (which good fortune avert!), Multnomah county is forever done with them.

Fortunately not much legislation was called for at the late session; but the little that was needed failed entirely. The school law did not pass, though it was a good one and would have been of material aid to the cause of education. The registry law failed, though it is a measure which a majority of the people wanted, and which none who are disposed to see elections conducted fairly for all parties could condemn. The Copperheads in the Legislature to a man opposed it. This was to be expected, as the absence of such a law gives them from 500 to 1,000 votes more than the would otherwise be able to obtain or are entitled to. We may thank our shrewd "balance-of-power members," for this aid to the Copperhead ticket in the next election. For all the failures of the session they are entitled to have, and shall have full credit. For its two successes the party owes them nothing, and will return them no thanks. These four or five members seemed to think that they were sent to the Legislature solely to look out for their own interests and not to represent a constituency. Throughout the session they appeared to act exclusively from this motive. Their conduct showed that they held in supreme contempt the trust that was confided to them, and regarded with utter indifference the responsibilities with which they were charged by those who elected them.

The Senate, having a Union majority, showed a disposition throughout the session, to transact the necessary business. But the dilatoriness and obstinacy of the House prevented anything being done.

The closing scene in the House was a fitting end to the proceedings of the session in that branch of Legislature. Charges dictated by pure malignity were brought forward against a Senator from this county; and, false and groundless as they proved to be, were pressed and discussed amid a confusion and uproar that would have been fitting nowhere but in a bedlam. A dozen were shouting at once. A Democratic member from a county east of the mountains jumped up and declared that a remark made by some one was a "G—d d—d lie;"—at the same time drawing his derringer from its place of concealment and putting it in his vest pocket to have it handy. Of course all this was strictly in order, as he was not rebuked for his conduct. Finally the fact was established that the Senator accused was entirely innocent of the charge and the six hours disgraceful uproar came to an end, and with it ended the fourth regular session of the honorable Legislature of Oregon.

We must add that a large number of the members of the House were gentlemen and gave no countenance to these proceedings. They had unfortunately fallen into bad company. Let us all hope that the next time they sit in the Legislature, better fortune and better company will await them.

A Boomerang.

Our Copperhead neighbor is delighted with the statement of a correspondent of the Chicago Republican, to the effect that General Grant had lately said that "he could make allowance for Southern men and could ride through the South; and get out on a platform and shake hands with such men as Lee, Johnston and Forrest, because, though they they were almost educated into secession they were now truly honest and loyal in their adherence to the Union and seeking to strengthen it." This convinces our cotemporary that General Grant is opposed to the Radicals. Now as this reported conversation with General Grant is so fine a thing, why doesn't our neighbor print all of it? Why withhold a part? Give it all, and don't omit that portion in which he says that he wouldn't associate on any account, with your disloyal Copperheads. Lest you may not do it, we humbly beg to call attention to the sentences immediately following those you have quoted from the General's conversation. After having spoken as above reported in regard to Lee, Johnston &c, he said that "he did not feel in that way towards Northern men who had once been disloyal, and neither desired to associate with them nor have them for his friends. No such men have his support. He felt that it was an insult to any loyal man to ask him to vote for any candidate who was not a loyal man in 1861. He particularly instanced, as a specimen of this objectionable class of men, Heister Clymer, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, saying that to ask any soldier to vote for such a man, of at one time known disloyalty, against another who had served four years in the Union army, with credit to himself and benefit to his country, was a gross insult."

Shan't we soon have something more in a Copperhead paper to show that General Grant is with the Democracy? By all means, try again. You have called on General Grant; he is your witness now, and you cannot be permitted to question his testimony. Anything further to ask of him?

Praters and Traitors.

The Copperheads all "stand by the President," and they jointly "stand by the Constitution." It is not easy to decide which expresses the greatest sollcitude for that instrument—the Copperheads or their "Moses." Johnson "left the Constitution in their hands" in a hundred places during his late tour. Inspired by his words they have caught up the refrain and cry out with vigor that "the Constitution and our liberties are in danger." If A. Johnson knows how to rant, they can mouth; and well do they all perform their several parts. Johnson himself once described this sort of man. His words will bear repeating, so we give them here:

> Whenever you find a man anywhere prating about the Constitution of the United States, spot him; he's a traitor.

This language was spoken at Nashville, Tennessee, in the autumn of 1864. Who now is "prating about the Constitution" so much as the man who uttered it? And who therefore, according to his own words, is a greater traitor?

SECRETARY STANTON.—The Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, a venomous secessionist, and, of course, a staunch supporter of Johnson, charges Secretary Stanton with wielding the machinery of the War Department against the President's policy. Incidentally, the gratifying fact is mentioned that General Canby, the commander of the Department of Washington, stands high in the confidence of Stanton. The correspondent writes:

> In this hour of supreme peril to himself and to his country, it seems most unfortunate that the President is environed and his councils distracted and enervated by official treachery. The Executive Department in this city, and throughout the country, swarm with his most virulent enemies, and the vast machinery of the War Office is wielded by a dastard and a traitor to subsidize and consolidate the strength of the radical conspirators. The Secretary of War, it is said, assures General Howard that he shall manage the Freedmen's Bureau so long as he (Stanton) administers the military affairs of the nation. And very recently the important command of the Department of Washington, without any cause known to the public has been transferred from an efficient officer, and steadfast friend of the President's policy [General Augur] to one who is distinguished only as an admirable instrument of the Autocrat of the War Department. Surely the recent experience of the President must have removed the scales which seem hitherto to have blinded his eyes to the folly of retaining in places of trust and power, in the hour of overwhelming danger, the treacherous confederates of radical traitors and tyrants.

CHICKAHOMINY STRATEGY.—The New York Herald lately changed its base politically, and the World upbraided it for the inconsistency of its course. The Herald retorted:

> In conducting a great newspaper, as in commanding an army, strategy is sometimes essential. The young men who have charge of of our cotemporary do not understand this, but they will learn it as they grow older. Our strategy, like General Grant's, consists in getting as close to the enemy as possible. By means of this Constitutional Amendment we shall get the Southern representatives into Congress face to face with the Radicals, and thus we can defeat the faction which is so dangerous to the country.

This way of going bound and a prisoner into the camp of your enemy and calling the adventure a victory, is a new way to discomfit your adversary. The idea of defeating him by helping him to accomplish his only present object, when the accomplishment of that object will be a complete triumph for him and the utter ruin of his opponents, is a method of checkmate not yet well understood. But people who have no principles can call any result a victory. The Herald and its kind understand to a jot the true Chickahominy strategy. "A change of base" with such, is always a victory."

A DEMOCRATIC PICTORIAL WANTED.—Harper's Weekly, an obscure sheet published in New York, was completely annihilated by the Herald yesterday morning. The "teacher and representative" don't like the engravings that appear in that paper; so he pronounces his anathema upon it. Harper's Weekly will probably be issued no more.

As this is the very time to mention it, let us inquire why we can't have a genuine Democratic pictorial to take the place of this Abolition sheet which our "teacher and representative" has annihilated? Let us have some pictures representing the good old times of negro pens, slave auctions, cotton fields tilled by enforced labor, amusements with bloodhounds catching runaway negroes, selling of "likely girls, nearly white" to lustful ruffians, etc., etc. Now's the time for it, and now's the time to subscribe.

RECRUITING.—Recruiting for the Regular Army in many parts of the country is progressing with gratifying rapidity, and nearly all the new regiments of infantry have reached their minimum strength. One of the new regiments of cavalry in General Sherman's department is already full and organized, while the two regiments of colored infantry being recruited in Gen. Sheridan's department are also nearly full.

Surgeon-General Barnes, who accompanied Johnson to Chicago, was at last accounts lying ill at that place with small prospects of recovery.

Lisle Lester was lately married to L. P. Higbee, an Owyhee lawyer.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO OCTOBER 19.

Money Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The Post's article says the market is rather more active, but the supply continues to be in excess of the demand, and rates are unchanged, being 5 per cent. for call loan and 5 and 6 for discount. Offerings of bills are very limited.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—United States bonds were issued yesterday to the Directors of the Eastern Board of the Union Pacific Railroad, to the amount of $640,000. The 5th section of 25 miles in length having been completed and all the requirements of the law having been complied with which entitled the division to $16,000 a mile.

The Fire at Quebec.

QUEBEC, Oct. 17.—Temporary sheds are being erected for the victims of the late fire. Much suffering is in prospective. Private individuals are contributing largely to private necessities. Another death has occurred from injuries received.

An appeal will be made to the people of England and France for aid.

Mexican News.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Late advices from the city of Mexico say that Maximilian has now taken the field in person, and, as soon as ready, will open the campaign. There is little question that he will restore order throughout the northern Department, and where the Liberals have been quietly permitted to make considerable headway. The energies of Maximilian are now all directed upon the perfection of his native Mexican army which already amounts to some 40,000 men, are splendidly officered and equipped. For the artillery there are some 14 batteries of rifled 6-pounders with good horses and gunners. There are no Liberal forces in Mexico that can withstand these troops. The infantry are equally well conditioned.

Official advices from Chihuahua dated the 12th, included the proclamation of Juarez, displacing for bad conduct Banagosa and Harales, in Matamoras, and appointing Mons Taji Governor.

Edward Connor, U. S. Consul at Guymas, informs the State Department that the evacuation of Sonora by the French took place September 14th, and that with the approval of the French Admiral and commander of the land forces, he (Connor) had officially notified Pasquera to take possession.

Terrible Explosion at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—A terrific boiler explosion occurred at 10 o'clock this morning in the turning shop of J. H. VanBrock, on Franklin Avenue, totally demolishing the shop and a three story brick building on West street. Twenty-two persons were known to have been buried in the ruins, three of whom were taken out dead. Twelve persons were more or less injured. Perhaps more still remain in the ruins. Six more dead bodies were taken from the ruins this evening.

Reported Resignation of Stanton.—N. Y. Railroad Matters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The Times Washington special dispatch still insists that Stanton has tendered his resignation and has signified his desire to go as Minister to Spain. As soon as Gen. Sherman can be heard from the President will act.

Much interest is felt here in New York Central Railroad affairs, on account of the struggle to control the election of a new board of directors, and to get possession of the road.

The weather is damp and muggy.

Death of John Van Buren.—Political.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The funeral of John Van Buren took place this morning in Grace Church and was largely attended.

The North Carolina election resulted in the re-election of Gov. Worth by a small vote almost without opposition.

There is a sharp crisis in Maryland politics, owing to a determination of Gov. Swain to remove Radical police commissioners who have charge of the registry; and an equal determination on the part of the Radical party to resist if need be by force.

NEWS BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 17.—Cotton firm and unchanged.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The money market is quiet. Consols for money, 89½. U. S. 5-20's closed at 68¾.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The money market is quiet. Consols, 89⅞ for money. 5-20's, 68⅞.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 19.—Weather quite unfavorable for crops. The breadstuff market is declining. Flour advanced 1s ⅌ bbl. Wheat advanced 1d ⅌ 100 lbs.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—Thouvenal, the eminent French statesman, died to-day.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—Rumors are afloat that the Prussia and Saxony Military Convention have agreed on the basis of common occupation of Saxony.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The eastern line is out of order beyond Laramie.

The trial of Charles P. Duane has occupied the court all day.

Daniel McDonald was taken to Stockton this evening as insane.

The grand jury have ignored the bill against Aaron Lowenstein, for grand larceny, and the accused was discharged this morning.

The Dry Goods Clerks' Association has adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That this association condemns in most positive terms, the late unlawful acts of breaking windows of store-keepers who failed to keep their word of honor; and that we will not hold ourselves responsible for any acts of violence which may be committed in future.

Resolved, That this association, while it condemns acts of violence, pledges itself to use all lawful and honorable means to carry out the early closing movement to a successful issue; and we hope that the public and the press will give us their cordial aid and support in this important work of reform.

The bi-monthly public sales of the San Francisco Sugar Refinery are discontinued for the present, in view of the peculiar condition of the market.

Private letters received by the Ida D. Rogers yesterday state that the treasure of the Bremen bark Libelle, wrecked hence, which was buried on Wake Island, had been recovered and forwarded to Juan Sarvout, Hongkong.

The Markets.

The latest quotation of gold in New York is $147, on the 20th. Legal Tenders have improved under the decline in gold. Buying at 70½ and selling at 71½.

Mining Stocks.

The mining stock market continues to improve. From the morning board yesterday: Yellow Jacket advanced $32 50; Crown Point, $25; Chollar-Potosi, $17; Ophir, $11 50; Belcher, $10, and Overman, $2 75.

Shipping.

Arrived—Oct. 22, bark Eugenia, 24 days from Fox Island, oil. Oct. 23, schooner Harriet Rowe, 33 days from Ochotsk Sea, codfish.

Sailed—Oct. 23, brig W. D. Rice, Victoria.

BUCHTEL'S PREMIUM GALLERY was represented at the State Fair, as it always has been, and did take the FIRST PREMIUM, as usual. His work stands for itself and does not require bombastic puffs in self-written cards, to recommend itself to the public. All kinds of work in the art furnished in the very latest styles.

A CHANGE.—In order to make room for an extensive invoice of READY MADE CLOTHING soon to arrive, direct from the manufacturers, Messrs. KOHN & FISHEL have determined to sell out their stock of Dry-Goods, consisting of Dress Goods, Trimmings, and everything for Ladies wear, at less than cost. Persons desirous to purchase anything in that line will do well to go and see the large stock. Call early to secure a choice and the best bargain.

PICTURES AT THE FAIR.—ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL, 69 First Street, sent no PICTURES to the State Fair this year. Those who saw there are not equal to these beautiful SUN PEARLS, PHOTOGRAPHS, PEARL AMBROTYPES, etc., which are daily produced at this GALLERY. As these gentlemen did not contend for a premium, the fact of any one getting it will have no weight as to superiority. The public seem to be satisfied where to obtain the best. Pictures taken equally well under a cloudy or clear sky.

The Graefenberg Company's Uterine CATHOLICON does not contain one particle of calomel or mercury, and cases of Female Complaints which require other treatment than the Catholicon are extremely rare. It should be used in all cases of Deranged Monthly Periods, Weakness, Irregular Appetite, Nervousness, Headache, Disturbed Sleep, Acid Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion and Pains and Difficulties connected with the Uterine Organs.

THE UTERINE CATHOLICON

Is a most successful remedy for Gravel and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, while in the troublesome symptoms attending Pregnancy, the benefits of the Catholicon are most remarkable. It is a perfect restorer of functional and general health from budding womanhood to the turn of life, and those patients who have used the GRAEFENBERG COMPANY'S UTERINE CATHOLICON find difficulty in expressing their thankfulness for the beneficial effects of this wonderful medicine.

COSMOPOLITAN CIRCUS!

FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY!!

COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT TO

HOOK AND LADDER CO. NO. 1,

Tendered by Messrs. LEE & RYLAND.

Come one, come all, and give us a Bumper! This is our first appeal to the Public of Portland.

Correspondence.

PORTLAND, Oct. 22d, 1866.

To the Officers and Members of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company No. 1—GENTLEMEN: Previous to our departure from this city (which will be on or about Friday next) we take much pleasure in tendering you a complimentary benefit, to take place on any evening you may choose between now and then. Should you accept this offer, we will erect our spacious pavilion, and trust you may meet with a reward equal to which we are sure your merits deserve, and to which the Citizens, we trust, will respond.

Awaiting your reply, we are, gentlemen, yours truly,
LEE & RYLAND, Cosmopolitan Circus.

Messrs. Lee & Ryland—GENTLEMEN: Your generous tender of a complimentary benefit to Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, is gratefully accepted. We name for the time of the performance, Wednesday evening, October 24th. Trusting that we may then be greeted by a full house, we remain yours truly,
Messrs. LAPPIUS, HEATH, PERRY, HODGKINSON, and MOFFITT, Committee of arrangements.
Portland, October 22, 1866.

—The agent of the Mining and Scientific Press gave us a call yesterday, and informs us that the prospects of this excellent journal were never better. The title of this journal is a truthful expression of its character. The Press is issued weekly, containing sixteen pages the size of Harper's Weekly, which afford a class of progressive information to the miners, mechanics, and professional men of the Pacific coast, not to be found in any other works. Each volume comprises, in reality, a book of new intelligence and facts relating to mining, mechanism, metallurgy, science and art, made plain by well executed plates; and is especially adapted to our rich and peculiar resources, as well as identical with our own industry and history. Its editors are men of thorough education and large practical experience, and its list of contributors embraces many names distinguished in the various fields of scientific exploration and mechanical invention. The agent will call on the leading business men of Portland and offer our citizens an opportunity of forming a club for the Scientific Press. The agent also proposes to notice, in correspondence with the Press, the various foundries, machine works, etc., etc., in and around Portland.

—Mons Buislay made his balloon ascension at Salem on the 21st and 22d inst. In consequence of the high state of the wind the ascension could not take place on Saturday as advertised. Prof. Vincent then promised that if possible he would ascend with the balloon on Sunday between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock. Accordingly on Sunday the ascension was made, but owing to the day and to the fact of so short a notice having been given, there were but three or four hundred persons to witness the ascension that day. Prof. V. was offered a large sum to repeat the ascension, but declined as as it was Sunday, and gave notice that he would repeat the ascension on Monday. In a few hours $300 was raised, and on Monday at the time advertised the ascension took place. The balloon rose beautifully to a great hight, and the crowd was delighted. This was a new sight to many of them, and excited much interest. It is proposed that Prof. Vincent give a free ascension in this city from the Plaza the latter part of this week, probably on Friday next. The amount necessary will no doubt be readily raised, and our sight-seers will be gratified by a sight of the first balloon ascension in Portland. Buislay is one of the celebrated family of that name, who have acquired a world wide reputation.

FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY.—For the occasion of the complimentary Benefit of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, and with such an entertainment as Wilson & Ryland have selected for the occasion, will doubtless draw such a crowd to the Arena as will put the question how many it can really contain. It is for the benefit of this Hook and Ladder Company have done, and that announcement alone should insure them a bumper. Harry Jackson's visit to Salem afforded him an opportunity of studying character which we are confident he will communicate with great gusto and much relish to his audience. The rest of the performers, the Ryland children, and the excellent company will be rendered more than usually entertaining, and the first appearance of Miss Thompson, the smallest lady in the world, being only thirty inches in height, of figure and prepossessing in appearance, will, we doubt not, add so much to the attraction as to gratify all who favor the company with their presence and their name we are certain will be "le-

—The steamer Minnehaha yesterday made the trip through from Oswego connecting with the Colfax, on the Tualatin river. Messrs. W. Wilcox, W. F. Ward, M. S. Burrell and Col. Belden were aboard, and report says they were highly pleased with the trip and what they saw. The steamer Yamhill is now making regular trips between Colfax and Hillsboro twice a week. A basket picnic and excursion will take place over this new route of transportation. Messrs. D. F. Bradford & Co., of Oswego, have this year brought 1,000,000 feet of logs over the route from Colfax.

—The steamer Fideliter, Erskine commander, left this city for Victoria direct, yesterday evening. She was delayed several hours after her advertised time in waiting for the arrival of the Senator, which was bringing flour for her. She takes the following freight: 6 cases oil, 17 bxs mdse, 1 hf bbl salmon, 1 bale bacon, 2 pkgs carpet, 252 bxs fruit, 2250 qr sks flour, 2 kegs butter, 4 bales mdse, 70 sks wheat, 3 sks barley, 4 coops chickens, 6 bxs eggs, 4 bxs honey and 4 bales furs. The Fideliter also took a list of about 20

—The Board of Delegates met on the evening of the 22d inst. and adjourned, there not being a quorum present. This has been the case for a long time, and business pertaining to the Fire Department which requires the attention and action of the Board has in consequence been neglected. Portland has a large and efficient Department, and to it the Board of Delegates bears a very important relation, and if they would only perform their duties, the action of the various companies can be intelligently directed. Much complaint is made of the negligence of the Delegates in this matter, and it should certainly be remedied.

—The tender of the dredger, the propeller, came up to this city yesterday, bringing the chain which is used in swinging the scoop, when filled, to the scow. The chain can be easily mended, and the dredger will be working to-day. The dredger is doing work rapidly, and Capt. Strang who has just returned from the mouth of the river and who spent some time in examining the channel, reports 14 feet at low water. The dredger will soon be brought up to the Swan Island bar. The work has been done; the only question now is, will the ship channel remain clear?

—The two men noticed a few days ago as having been arrested at the Cascades for stealing a sum from Mr. Wheeler at the Dalles, turn out to be the men engaged in passing counterfeit money at that place. The man who committed the larceny were at the Cascades on the evening that Marshal Keeler was there, and on station and came on down to this city. Many of our friends are sorely afflicted by the operations of the Dalles mint, having been so suddenly suspended, as they have for so long a time been anxiously awaiting its establishment.

—A German named Leopold was drowned at Oregon City on Thursday of last week. It is thought he committed suicide, as he had not been in his right mind for some days. The deceased was an employee at the woolen factory, and the operatives generally turned out to search for the remains, but have thus far been unsuccessful. Leopold was a young man, and of steady habits. It is not known whether he has relatives in this country.

—Capt. Smith of the Warm Springs reservation arrived in this city last evening. He informs us that news has been received at the reservation that a band of Snake Indians, probably the one engaged in the late attack which resulted in the death of the Chief of the Warm Springs Indians, are upon the war path, and probably contemplate another raid upon the reservation.

—The old gymnasium on Second street, is again to be the scene of athletic sports, after years of disuse. Hartley & Dillon have fitted it up as a gymnasium, where lovers of the game will find an opportunity to try their muscle. It will be opened to-day.

—A lively race came off yesterday over the track between Hendee's horse Whisky and ...., single dash of half a mile; won by Whisky in 1:02. Then came a trotting match simply for the fun of the horses—best two in three.

—We learn that Lieut. Kestler of the 14th Infantry has been sent to Camp Watson with the company lately stationed at Fort Steilacoom. The company left Vancouver on the 22d inst.

PRODUCE.—The steamer Senator brought down yesterday 1,340 sks flour, 188 sks feed, 18 cases eggs, 59 boxes fruit and 61 hides and pelts.

—The schooner Crosby, with lime from San Juan for the Oswego Iron Works, is now discharging at the wharf of McCraken, Merrill & Co.

—An accident occurred to the main shaft of the Oregon City woolen mill on Monday last, which has caused a temporary suspension of work.

—The Pioneers meet to-night at the rooms of .... Highly important business is to be attended to. Let all come at sharp 6 o'clock.

—Our popular Governor, Geo. L. Woods, has been in this city for several days, and left yesterday morning for Salem.

—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt brought down from the Cascades 60 passengers and one wagon.

—Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger brought down last evening $15,600 in treasure.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD.—If the friends of impartial justice, as the only safe basis of reconstruction, have been anxious lest the defection of Seward from the Republican party should exert a wide and disastrous influence among his former friends, the following extract of a letter to the New York Tribune, from a gentleman in Auburn, may serve to reassure them:

If any changes among the great Union party might be expected in this State, through the unaccountable course of Seward, they certainly might be looked for among his neighbors and life-long friends at his home in old Cayuga. But we can say, with an absolute assurance of the truth, that if the changes are of a similar character in other portions of the State, the great Republican Union party will carry the election by 50,000 majority, and then we will comply with Seward's wish, expressed at Niagara Falls, by counting him out. Seward's friends in this country watch his course with unfeigned sorrow, and are bowed in the dust with mortification, but not a soul of them proposes to follow his lead by deserting the party he did so much to uphold, and the principles he labored so long to inculcate. The acorn he planted has become the towering tree, its wide-spreading branches and deep piercing roots, defying all storms and adverse winds. The work of his life-time, to which he devoted the vigor of his early manhood and mature judgment of his riper days, cannot be overturned and annihilated by the apostasy of old age.

"Martha Washington" Hair Restorer will not color the skin like the trashy preparations claiming to be good. Give it a trial.

ATTENTION "HOOKS"—YOU ARE REQUESTED to meet at the HOOK & LADDER HOUSE at 7 o'clock P. M., with uniform, shirt and belt.

By order of the FOREMAN.

Portland, October 24, 1866.

THE PRESIDENT.—The Cleveland Leader has the following:

The President has reached the end of his journey. He has swung round his last circle and distributed his last flag. Let us make up the statistics of his "tour:"

Number of days absent	19
Number of speeches made	1??
Number of times he said "I"	12,315
Number of times he "swung round the circle."	122
Number of "traitors" erected	21
Number of flags with 36 stars distributed gratis	90,999
Number of copies of the Constitution "left in your hands"	ditto
Quarts of whisky drunk

At this point our calculating machine broke down in the effort to express an unparalleled magnitude.

The Bank of France was never so encumbered with riches as at the present time. There are now in its cellars to the value of 700 millions of francs in gold, specie, silver, or jewels. This abundance has resulted from the war in Germany. The amount sent by German bankers and others numbers 200 millions. The king of Saxony sent 10 millions of florins. The cellars of the bank are so crammed that it is compelled to refuse to receive any valuables which occupy much space. It has happened lately that a single banking house has sent several millions to the bank in one day.

SOUTHERN OPINION.—A glimmering of the truth in regard to the condition of public sentiment in the free States is reaching even the benighted Southern journalists. The Richmond Examiner says:

"Our private advices from the North represent a very serious state of things existing there. The energy and determination of the Radicals were never so great as now. We, in the South, should egregiously deceive ourselves if we should take it for granted that success was certain for the cause of conservatism. It is by no means certain."

What Experienced Mill Men think of the Portable Steam Saw Mills built by the Oregon Iron Works:

PORTLAND, Oct. 18th, 1866.

TO THE OREGON IRON WORKS:

Gentlemen:—The Portable Steam Saw Mill which we purchased of you last spring for Pend d'Oreille Lake, has been in operation during the past season, and has more than met our expectations in its performance. With three men, we turn out from three to four thousand feet, and with five men, five thousand feet per day of ten hours; and we take pleasure in recommending these mills as the most SUBSTANTIAL, DESIRABLE AND PERFECT MILLS IN USE, and especially adapted to the wants of this country, on account of their compact form, ease of transportation and the facility with which they can be set up and put in operation. Although subjected to the most severe tests, no repairs have been required.

Soothing and Bracing.—There is no preparation in existence which has such a soothing effect in cases of nervous excitement as

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

Although the fame of this renowned invigorant rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and intestinal disorders, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any unpleasant reaction. Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of Health. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task;
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day,
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That feverhaint the heavy air,
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent;
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysentric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Billious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least, we hail,
Hostetter's Bitters—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restoratives

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground,
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle-aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Only Some Relics

A ring she wore a je[illegible] that pressed
The u[illegible] beauty of her breast

A glove o[illegible] her small fingers inch[illegible] blue

A r[illegible] that
Loved in the dally[illegible] winds to float

A g[illegible] clasp that once [illegible] knew
The silken press[illegible]

A little slipper with blue rosette,
[illegible] foot was set

And one br[illegible] tress thr[illegible] years
Sh[illegible] the shell lines of her care

These [illegible] a dull sta[illegible]
Are all of o[illegible] one that now [illegible]

All the dear relics that are left
Of her by whose[illegible] our hearts are cleft

Leaving th[illegible] world a[illegible] dead space
Of cares and duties with little grace

A dull dead level of weary years
In which no blossom [illegible] joy appears

No g[illegible] with teeth like the rows of corn
When you strip the ear as the Summer is born

And tresses of changing gold and brown,
Over shoulders of ivory shaken down,

And lips in whose arched and cr[illegible] bow
All the flushing balms of the tropics glow

And [illegible] whose dimpled cheeks like light
And shrub over meadows the thoughts take flight

Winged by her innocent, dancing eyes,
With coyness coquetry smiles and sighs

Her voice was the hum of a Summer wind
When it breaths through a lattice with roses twined

Her soul was as pure as unsullied and white
As the charming seraphs in robes of light,

And the kindness that dwelt in her heart, I deem
Of the heaven she now dwells in was some stray gleam

Oh loved and lost our soul s adored !
Our dove with silver w[illegible]ngs—our[illegible]

Whose breath had a charm bidding sorrow cease

The Douglas Monument.

The monument, as it will appear, when completed, is one hundred feet in height, and rests upon a circular platform with a base of fifty-two feet in diameter approached by four steps The foundations for the support of the entire structure are constructed in a style that will secure its permanence upon the sandy nature of the ground as completely as if it was set in the solid rock This part of the structure was not the least difficult of the design, and as it will be necessarily lost sight of, it calls for special remark in a description of the entire monument.

There are two foundations of rubble stone and mortar several feet below the surface of the ground, and reaching above the surface for a few feet, for the support of the platform base. One of the underground walls is a perfect circle, while the other curves inward in concave form Inside of the inner foundation or wall, the space, which is some twenty superficial feet square, from the top of the ground to the top of the inner wall, is filled up with concrete gravel and cement, which is equivalent to one solid block of stone. On the top of this are placed large massive stones, one foot thick, by four or five feet solid, and over this is laid rubble stone and mortar for the support of the main walls of the structure. The outer foundations are so constructed as to prevent the great pressure above from causing the structure to sink in the shifting sands Many public building in the city have been ruined by inattention to this important point.

Above the circular platform is another base curved inwards on the four sides with three steps, and reaching two and a half feet in hight. The sepulchre, designed for the reception of the marble sarcophagus holding the remains, is twenty feet square and eleven feet high will walls five feet thick It has an arched ceiling, and a chamber within ten feet square. The floor is of mosaic or tiled work, and is on a level with the circular platform base. The sarcophagus will be visible to the spectator outside the inclosure through the open bronze or iron door, which will be six and half feet high, and three and a half feet wide During the inclement seasons a tight fitting door can be closed, so as to protect the interior from storms and rains.

Surrounding the sepulchre four pedestals stand out from each corner connected with it by gracefully springing arches, and holding four seated symbolical figures, Illinois, holding a medallion likeness of Douglas, and by his side a sheaf of wheat and the State arms, America, with the shield, History reclining upon a tablet, and Fame, with the wreath and trumpet A drooping Eagle, with trailing wings, sits above the door of the sepulchre Resting upon the sepulchre is the pedestal, from which springs up a rounded and graceful shaft, forty feet in hight, composed of fluted sections separated by stars indicating the number of the States, and surmounted by a colossal statue of the departed statesman The composition of the statue represents Douglas as standing by the Union and the Constitution, the right hand resting upon the fasces symbolical of the Union, and the left holding the Constitution The pedestal is ornamented with wreaths, festoons, scrolls, and inverted flambeaux, with the inscription in front. On each side of the base of the pedestal are bas relievos representing Progress—the progress of America in the West First is the wilderness, wigwams in the foreground, with women and papooses at the entrance, Indians hunting, and one hauling a stricken deer to the door of the cabin The next scene represents the first step in progress—industry. The pale face has taken the place of the white man In the foreground is a little cabin, with a woman at the door, while in the distance the husband is felling trees. Instead of the tomahawk and bow, is seen the plow and the ax. It is the dawn of a new era. The next scene represents further stage of progress—Commerce and Science hand in hand The former is represented by a symbolical figure with caduceus and holding a flag. At the right of the panel is a locomotive, and at the left a ship, while in the middle of the picture are bales and boxes of goods denoting commerce Science is represented by the telegraph wires, with the lines stretching from side to side. Last scene of all in the history of progress, the schoolmaster is abroad. He stands in the centre, book in hand, surrounded by a group of children, some studying and some reciting At the right is the church and on the left is the capitol

There is a certain mournful beauty in the design, which will admirably accord with the memories of the spot. Everything is in keeping with the life of the great statesman whose memory it is intended to commemorate. The ornaments are few but appropriate The wreaths are pendant, and funeral, the torches inverted, the eagle drooping The artist has also studied well the physical character of the ground, and produced a monument which will be seen from every point of access to the city. He has also designed it so that it can be carried to three stages of completion, including the last and final one, and each stage present a complete and finished appearance. The first section will be fully completed by the first of October, and ready for the reception of the remains

THE PRESIDENT AT INDIANAPOLIS.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune writing from Indianapolis, September 11th, gives the following account the President's reception there

Inasmuch as the blame of the disturbance is placed by the Copperheads on the Congressional party, it may be well to state that that party are willing to assume a part of the blame—if blame it be—of forcing the President to be silent for once It is an undisguised fact that the President is exceedingly obnoxious with the Union party of this State The State is generally accredited the responsibility of making him Vice President; and to have him turn upon it with the rancor he has exhibited provokes a like bitterness And when it was said he would make Indianapolis a post on his march, our papers said boldly they did not want him; and further that if he or his chief managers knew what they were doing, they would save us the infliction But they would come The Copperheads appointed a committee to welcome him and the miserable band of office seeking officers late of the army, made another similar committee Neither invited expected or wanted Union men, or the city or State officials to participate These committees were published to welcome the President no mention of Grant or Farragut specially being made

Under such auspices the President came He was received at the depot frantically by a torch light procession of mounted butchers, and the committee in part The committee had, previous to his coming, united The first coach, drawn by four white horses contained the President and Seward, and it is now stated that General Grant and Admiral Farragut were also in the coach It was densly crowded by Copperheads attending it, as near as they could approach on the sides and rear The men were announced as a "body guard" of Johnson to protect him from the Radicals, a gross insult to the crowd Many thought, your correspondent among them they discovered Grant in a plain coach entirely unattended except by two known to be soldiers They added to the dissatisfaction of the crowd at the mere presence of Johnson and his self styled "body guard" as if any one was so wild as to think of personal violence to such a man under such circumstances.

When the party were safely in the Bates House a perfect bedlam of noises went up from the audience then amounting to thousands. There were no angry voices; all was a good humored attempt to try the power of lungs Had the President appeared then he might have had a hearing but [illegible] appeared [illegible] one of the party [illegible] Three cheers for President Johnson [illegible] they were given with a mixture of groans [illegible] then

Three groans for the [illegible] Congress Here let me say that if there ever was [illegible] which rightly tended to create deep indignation in the hearts of loyal men [illegible] of Rump to the national Congress which has been legislating the country through fourteen [illegible] year is such [illegible] Rump indeed [illegible] "If ours is a Rump Congress Johnson is a Rump President" Following this insult came three cheers for the freedmen's veto They were given amid equal groans This continued for sometime when a voice announced "The President is on the other side speaking" "He has been on the 'other side' a good while" was responded Then the crowd surged around on the south side to see the reception The jam was frightful, the uproar inexpressible General Meredith shouted his speech in the ear of Johnson, standing in front of him Then Johnson attempted to reply, but the crowd had had enough of him They cheered and groaned alternately called for "Grant" "Farragut" "Anybody else," etc The President gave it up and withdrew Then the others were presented in turns but nobody could be heard, and speech making was abandoned The windows were closed the shutters drawn, and the crowd left to themselves Then began the riot, resulting, as the world knows in one death, Stewart, a mild spoken old gentleman and a Union man, and several severely wounded As to the responsibility of the riot there is not the shadow of a doubt It lies with the torch light company, as a hundred eye witnesses attest Chagrined at the result of the reception they were ordered by their mounted commander to "scatter the d—d scoundrels." To do this placing themselves in front of the company, the leaders spurred their horses through the crowd followed by the torch bearers The crowd resisted, as would any men in the world When the company had once passed out and was returning, the solid lines were formed, and when the torch sticks were used to beat them back, the affray began in earnest The first firing was by Copperheads, as will be proven, and the man killed was killed by a Copperhead, who now lies in jail The firing and pummeling ceased in a few minutes after Stewart was killed, the affray not lasting over fifteen minutes

An Accused Man calls upon God to Strike him Dead if he is Guilty—He falls instantly to the floor, a Corpse

Whatever version may be given to a circumstance that occurred in this city yesterday afternoon, the most thoughtless must per force admit that the result is most strange and startling, and well calculated to turn the serious man to more profound meditation, and even stay the reckless man in his course A man of robust health, and in the prime of life, is accused of a crime under circumstances of almost positive proofs of guilt, and, while he calls upon God to bear witness to his innocence is struck dead almost before the appeal has left his lips Incredible as the circumstances may appear they are literally true

A little over a year ago there lived in a small village in Sweden a man by the name of Rosencrist, whose ostensible pursuit was that of a tailor, but rumor had it that his principal revenue was derived from poaching and stealing, and at least this impression was so strongly confirmed that he suddenly left that village to evade the arm of justice He came to this country about eight months ago, and took up his residence in Chicago, where he again worked at his trade Having a family, he found it difficult to support them in the city, and, consequently, sent them on a farm about 14 miles from Chicago He thereupon took lodgings at a boarding house, No 144 Burnside street and for a long time suspicions were entertained as to his character Recently several valuable articles belonging to boarders at the house were found missing but no clue as to the perpetrator could be detected. Yesterday afternoon another theft was discovered, and the proofs of guilt pointed directly to Rosencrist—no one else having been near the apartment since the time the articles stolen were last seen On being accused, he stoutly denied the theft, but, finding no credence was given to the denial, he suddenly grew more passionate, and, lifting up his hand toward heaven, exclaimed that he hoped his "tongue would rot in his mouth, his head drop from his shoulders, and God strike him dead on the spot," if he was guilty No sooner had these words escaped his lips, when he suddenly began to reel and stagger, and, before support could be given, he fell to the floor—dead The excitement this incident created among the bystanders can better be imagined than described Strong men stood paralyzed, women fainted, and none were able to speak for some minutes The occurrence was so horrible, this apparent retribution so terrible that men doubted their senses But the dead man remained prostrate on the floor—a ghastly proof of the reality The rumor of this strange and startling fatality soon spread through the neighborhood and in a few minutes the house was filled with horror-stricken people, none of whom doubted that the hand of God was thus made visible A physician was called, who pronounced the cause of death to be disease of the heart, produced by over excitement The body has been conveyed to the dead-house, where an inquest will be held to-day.—Chicago Times, September 17th

A HARD LICK —The Gold Hill News says the theory of the recently deceased aged German physician that life was greatly prolonged by sleeping with his head to the north, finds an accompanying statement from the fact that most American politicians who have for scores of years laid their heads to the South, are very dead

STILL HOT —In Portland, on September 5th, sixty two days after the great fire there, bricks dug out of the ruins were so hot that they were uncomfortable to handle On the same day pieces of iron were taken from the Fox Block lot that blistered the men's hands to touch them
